Lard Palmerston on one occasion took the chair at a meeting in connection with University college, London. He as not so familiar, writes Mrs. S. E. do Morgan in her reminiscences, with the rost of speech expected in such a place as he would have been at Westmaning to adapt his rhet-3 eo ore to the occasion began very approprintely, "It has been said that 'a litthe kinning is a dangerous thing,' but it is befor than-better than-better than" Hero came a dead stop. Lord D.orgham, who sat beside the speaker, ame to the rescue, speaking with his paruliar masal twang, "Better than a give it deal of ignorance." This of course brought down the house, and during a voing of laughter, cheers and Kentish ing, Lord Palmerston recovered the lost briend of his speech, and finished it with us negal case and finency.

Freezes Water In a Kite.

A Yankee farmer in Brazil who longed ico wa'er has utilized a kite for the parpose of obtaining ice. He fills a tin can with water and sends it to the hoight of three miles, where it is promptly frozen. After a sufficient interval the kite is impidly hauled in and the cake of ice secured. The inventor is so pleased with his toy that it is said he now proposes to send up a kite 150 feet long by a sicel wine cable. Under the kite will be suspended a pulley, over which runs an endless chain bearing cans attached to Looks. The cans will be filled with water and the speed of the belt upon which they will run will be regulated so that the topmost cans will be converted into ice sufficiently hard to withstand the downward journey.

Why He Voted Aye.

When Dr. Kencaly, being returned to parliament by the electors of Stoke, took an early opportunity of moving a vote of censure on the judges, he found a teller in Mr. Whalley. On the house drawing it was found that 488 men of all parties voted in the negative, Dr. Kore dy's proposition being supported by a radio member. The single member was Yaj a O Gorman. Asked afterward ally he had gone against his own party, or orce marged in the majority, the major, mopping his massive brow, an-wered, "Bedad, it's a hot night, and l new there would be more room in the

nowever, so that sometimes he scarcely sispects the cause

The cause of nine-tenths of the sickness of the world is constipation—a condition so common that four people out of five take it as a matter of course. From this one cause come indigestion; disorders of the stomach, liver and kidneys; biliousness, headaches, flatulence, heartburn, impurity of the blood and the serious complications that follow. To begin with, constipation is a little thing, and a little thing will cure it.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets are tiny, sugarcoated granules. They give to nature just the little help she needs. They are as gentle as they are efficient, and will perfectly cure the worst cases of constipation. There is nothing in the world like them, so there can be nothing "just as good." needs, neither takes the proper time for cating. It is small wonder that the digestion of both gets out of order.

Nature works as hard as she can, but there are some things she cannot stand. If a man gets some foreign substance into the works of his watch, he doesn't expect the watch to run until the impediment is removed. His own digestive system is a much more wonderful and delicate mechanism than that of his watch, and yet he neglects it and abuses it. He lets it get out of order, and refuses to help it. In the end his neglect reacts with terrible force upon himself. The reaction comes on gradually, however, so that sometimes he scarcely suspects the cause

"Don't you believe it," said the old maid. "I've tried it. I saved up my broom hundles once to make a gypsy table that was described as making an ideal tea table. I put 47 different coats f stain on those broomsticks in an STORT to persuade them to become cherry. Then I hired a carpenter, who workof two days trying to fit the broomsticks invo a chresebox top so the thing would dand up. I bought wadding to pad the top, and felt to cover it, and fringe to go around it, and ornamental mails to hold it on. When it was done, I had spem three times what a good table weald have cost at a shop, but I had a righteous glow of having economized that was worth any money.

The woman in the tailor frock laughed. "Ah, my dear," she said, "we have to pay for everything in this world that is weeth having-even economy!"-Philadelphia Press.

Broke Up the Party.

At a card party in the northwest a few evenings ago a cross eyed man was posing as the man who knew it all, giving his positive opinions on every sub ject in a lond voice and otherwise making himself a general nuisance. A Beston girl was particularly annoyed at the lordly air he assumed and the attacks he had made on some of her pet theories. She made up her mind to bowl him over if the ever got a chance.

Is came sconer than expected. A few minutes later the Boston girl was the partner of the cross eved man, who immediately proceeded to give elaborate instructions as to how certain cards should be played to insure them the game. He finished by saying, "Now, go ahead, Miss Back Bay, and remember I have my eye on you. " She never look ed up, but in the most innocent way imaginable, said, "Which eye, Mr Jones?" It broke up the party. - Wash ingion Post.
